

MILES & THE MONARCHS

—By Carolyn Mueller | Illustrated by Philip Goudeau

The Missouri Press Foundation and the National Newspaper Association Foundation have once again teamed together to produce an educational serial story free to all newspapers. Titled Miles and the Monarchs, this year's serial story follows along with the titular Miles and his father as they learn life lessons and discover the stories behind some of the greatest Negro League Baseball players to ever play the game.

The timing of this year's eight-chapter story is especially serendipitous. Major League Baseball has recently announced that players from the Negro Leagues will be considered Major Leaguers. All 3,400 players, from 1920 to 1948, will be elevated to MLB status. Andrew "Rube" Foster established the Negro National League in 1920, in Kansas City, Mo., making this story particularly relevant and timely. Miles and the Monarchs centers on a father and son trip to see the final game of the 1942 Negro League World Series between the Kansas City Monarchs and the Washington-Homestead Grays.

Travel along with Miles and his father as they learn life lessons and meet some of the great Negro League Baseball players in this story.
