

Pressing West

A Page In History

In the spring of 1808, a press is unloaded from a keelboat on the Mississippi riverfront, beginning a new page in history as a pioneer newspaper begins the westward expansion of words. Meet 12-year-old Gabe Martin, a boy forced to step into adult shoes when his family falls on hard times. A chance encounter on that muddy riverfront gives Gabe the opportunity to lend a hand to a printer's efforts "Pressing West."

A Serialized Story for Young Readers

(Begins Date)

(Logo)